

Return-to-research fellowship

CLISAP offers postdoctoral fellowships aimed at helping scientists to return to research after a career break due to family commitments, like childcare or nursing care for relatives. Comparable personal circumstances can be put in a claim as well.

The fellowship is to be used for elaborating a proposal to acquire funding of a research position, if possible within one of the participating institutions of CLISAP. Therefore, patronage by a professor of an institution associated with CLISAP, willing to accept this commitment has to be obtained beforehand.

Successful candidates will receive a fellowship according to the criteria for postdoctoral fellowships of the German Research Association (DFG) for a period of 12 months (1750 euro/month + allowance for direct project costs and – if applicable – child allowance).

Applications should be submitted to the equal opportunities office by 11 October 2017 and should include the following documents:

- curriculum vitae
- university diplomas (Diploma or Master degree, doctoral certificate)
- letter of motivation, delivering a statement on both, the reasons why you wish to return to climate science and your current living conditions
- when applying based on childcare: number and age of children, details of childcare, details of legal custody and/or joint households
- when applying based on nursing care for relatives: details of the care situation and/or the joint household
- confirmation of patronage by a professor of an institution associated with CLISAP

Pending approval of funding, the fellowship will start on 1 January 2018.

Written applications should be sent to (email preferred):
