

Trilateral Staff Development and Exchange Program NW-SU-UHH

Integrating Sustainability Across Higher Education Institutions

9-13 September 2024 at Universität Hamburg

You enjoy discussions in an international environment? You are interested in connecting with colleagues from South Africa and the United States? Sustainability is a matter close to your heart and part of your profession?

Then joining our Trilateral Staff Development and Exchange (TriStaX) Program 2024 is just right for you.

In this year's program we aim to look at sustainability in all aspects of the university: In internationalization, teaching and curriculum development, research, as well as campus life and transfer to city and society. We understand sustainability in a holistic way, looking at environmental, economic and social aspects.

We would love to welcome you to apply for our five-day program and engage with colleagues from Stellenbosch University (South Africa), Northwestern University (USA) and Universität Hamburg (Germany). All participants work as administrative staff in various parts of the university. The TriStaX program 2024 aims to foster personal development of staff and contribute to enhancing sustainability on campus and beyond:

Day 1	Welcome and Introduction to topic
Day 2	Policies, Strategies and Implementation
Day 3	Integrating Sustainability into Teaching and Curricula
Day 4	Research, Transfer and Regional Initiatives
Day 5	Group Presentation and farewell

The program will include a group project. Mixed teams from all three institutions will work on projects during the week, which have the potential to be implemented at the institutions. The choice of topic is free and is decided by the groups jointly on the first day of the program.
