As a University of Excellence, Universität Hamburg is one of the strongest research universities in Germany. As a flagship university in the greater Hamburg region, it nurtures innovative, co-operative contacts to partners within and outside academia. It also provides and promotes sustainable education, knowledge, and knowledge exchange locally, nationally, and internationally.

Junior professorships are aimed at researchers in the early stages of their career, within four years after completion of doctoral studies.

The Faculty of Humanities invites applications for a commencing as soon as possible, ref. no. JP 320.

JUNIOR PROFESSORSHIP (W1) FOR THEOLOGY OF ALEVISM

RESPONSIBILITIES:

The successful candidate is expected to teach and conduct research in the field. A historical, source-based approach to research and teaching is also expected. Research experience in religious rituals, poetry, and music is desired. Duties include participation in the Early Modern World emerging field and/or the Thought and Religions profile initiative.

The post holder is also expected to be actively involved in educating teacher training students in the school subject of religion and in introducing, implementing, and assuring the quality of the Alevi Religion teacher training programme.

In their application, applicants are expected to indicate to which of the University's core research areas, emerging fields, or profile initiatives (https://www.uni-hamburg.de/en/forschung/forschungsprofil/forschungsschwerpunkte.html) their research can best be assigned.

Section 12 subsection 7 sentence 2 of the Hamburg higher education act (Hamburgisches Hochschulgesetz, HmbHG) applies.

REQUIREMENTS:

Academic qualifications and additional requirements as specified in Section 18 HmbHG.

ADDITIONAL CRITERIA:

Applicants are expected to have international research experience as well as a successful track record in acquiring external funding and carrying out externally funded projects. The University places particular emphasis on the quality of teaching and therefore requests that applicants provide details of their teaching experience and objectives.
Non-German speaking post holders are expected to possess the language skills necessary to teach in German (Level C1 of the Common European Framework of Reference for Languages).

Junior professors have academic autonomy in their research and teaching and are expected to contribute to the development of their academic field.

In accordance with Section 14 subsection 3 sentence 3 HmbHG, Universität Hamburg seeks to increase the proportion of women in teaching and research and encourages female academics to apply.

Suitable disabled candidates or applicants with equivalent status with comparable qualifications, abilities, and experience receive preference in the application process.

The application deadline is 30 July 2020. Please submit your application with your CV, list of publications, teaching experience, successful external funding record, copies of certification and documents, teaching and research plans, additional evidence of skills and experience, such as presentations, posters, significant roles held in organizations, etc. where available, and the reference number JP 320, preferably by email in a single PDF file, to: bewerbungen@uni-hamburg.de or via post to:
